Hospital Networks Overview

Below is a general schematic architecture of hospital systems and DICOM/HL7/SQL network communications between them. The actual implementation varies between hospitals but this document is only targeting the general approach. Each server is marked in different color and they are independent - it is not a requirement for all of them to exist.